Congratulations to this year’s NIH Conference Fellowship recipients:

Travel Awards
Matt Anderson (University of Minnesota)
Michael Botts (University of Wisconsin, Madison)
Denise Burnside (Northwestern University)
Johanna Frierson (Vanderbilt University)
P. David McMullen (University of Illinois at Chicago)
Stephanie Rangel (Northwestern University)
Katherine Schmalzer (Medical College of Wisconsin)
Vishal Somvanshi (Michigan State University)
Rachel Spurbeck (University of Michigan)
Tiffany Tsang (University of Michigan)

Registration Awards
Christine Akimana (University of Louisville)
Rexford Asare (University of Louisville)
Laty Cahoon (Northwestern University)
Nathan Clemons (University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign)
Karen Gallegos (University of Cincinnati)
Pascale Guiton (Washington University)
Norbert Hill (Washington University)
Christy Marrs (Meharry Medical College)
Kristie Mitchell (Eastern Michigan University)
Katie Molohon (University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign)
Maze Ndonwi (Washington University)
Chika Nwugo (Miami University)
Jessica Queen (Northwestern University)
Carly Redelman (IUPUI)
Marcus Rushing (University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign)
Rudel Saunders (University of Toledo)
Craig Smith (Washington University)
Patrick Vigil (University of Michigan)

Congratulations to the speakers selected from the submitted abstracts:

Rory Pruitt (Vanderbilt University)
“Structural organization of the functional domains of Clostridium difficile toxins A and B”

Jason Rosch (St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital)
“Calcium efflux in Streptococcus pneumoniae: Novel roles in virulence and antimicrobial discovery”

Aleksandra Sikora (University of Michigan)
“A comprehensive proteomic analysis of Vibrio cholerae type II secretome reveals new proteins including a serine protease that processes cholera toxin”